Taylor opposes ethics amendment

The proposed amendment to the ethics provisions of the state Constitution, if approved by the voters on June 3, would allow office-holders to enrich themselves at the expense of the taxpayers, State Sen. Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis has said.

"I am urging Mississippi voters to go to the polls on June 3 and vote against the amendment, which would weaken the Constitution that has protected the taxpayers from being robbed by elected officials since 1890," Taylor said.

The amendment, which failed in the Legislature by a single vote last year and passed by a single vote this year, "would legalize the practice of a legislator, a supervisor or a city councilman doing business with his own government entity.

The present law is very explicit: you cannot be a member of that entity and do business with it," said Taylor, whose Senate District 46 includes Hancock County and portions of Harrison and Jackson Counties.

"As I see it, councilmen, senators or any other elected officials have too much influence in these agencies' decisionmaking process for them to make an unbiased judgment about doing business with them," he said.

"Take the case of state employees. As a senator, I set their salaries, the rules they work under and their retirement benefits. If I am selling something as a private citizen, there is no fair way that other private citizens can compete for the business with the state," Taylor said.

"Or take the case of professional services of attorneys, accountants, architects and engineers. There are no bid laws governing these services, so an engineering or legal firm wanting to do business with the state would hire a representative or a senator to be its salesman. Under the proposed Constitutional amendment, the only restriction on the legislator is that he refrain from voting on that issue. But it is obvious that he will have more influence in getting contracts than an ordinary citizen.

"The present law regarding conflicts of interest is very clear: there shall be none. The amendment thrown to the voters by the Legislature adds loopholes and gray areas that put the burden on the public to prove that an office-holder has done something wrong. It is impossible to enforce and it would be impossible to get a conviction against someone who is misusing his office.

"The voters are being asked to take away a very strict, definitive section of the Constitution that clearly delineates what an elected official can and cannot do and are being asked to replace it with a section full of ifs, ands, ors and buts.

"The amendment also refers to nonexistent penalties for violations, since it calls for the Legislature to provide penalties 'and other appropriate remedies' for violations and to pass future laws to further regulate and define lawful conduct. What this means is that the whole matter would go back to the Legislature to make its own rules on conflict of interest. A violator might be given a private reprimand and the public might never be aware of it.

"This amendment squeezed through the Legislature by a single vote to get the two-thirds needed to pass. If the voters now approve it, it will be next to impossible to get two-thirds of another Legislature to put teeth back in the ethics amendment.

"The only ones now who can stop this travesty of justice are the voters. If the amendment passes, there probably will never be a second chance to undo it," Taylor said.

Scout house dedication in memory of Buehler set for Memorial Day

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The home of Boy Scout Troop 208 will be dedicated as the Warren (Buck) Buehler Memorial Scout House on Memorial Day.

The Boy Scout Troop is sponsored by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139 of Bay St. Louis.

Buehler, who died on November 12, 1985, was involved in scouting for over 45 years, having served as a Boy Scout, institution representative, Post No. 139 Scout Committee chairman, Troop 208 district and area coordinator.

Among his many scouting honors, Buehler in 1975 was awarded the Silver Beaver by the New Orleans Area Council Boy Scouts of America.

The native of Hancock County graduated from Bay High School in 1940 and worked with his father, a local contractor.

Upon returning from World War II, he was a shop foreman at the local Ford Agency, from where he was employed by the U.S. Post Office until his retirement.

He was a member of Boy Scout Troop 217 when the late Fred Fayard was scoutmaster.

He served in the United States Army during World War II in the European Theatre.

Buehler was active in American Legion Post No. 139, a post commander for two years, an executive committeeman for over 30 years, and was a post color bearer at the time of his death.

He also served as the first Chef de Gare of Voyager 432 Eight and Forty when it was chartered by the American Legion posts in Bay St. Louis and Picayune.

Buehler was married to his former high school sweetheart Gertrude Monti Buehler of Bay St. Louis. They had two sons, Larry Buehler, and Andy Buehler; and two daughters, Sue Buehler Fayard, and Karen Buehler Ponder, and seven grandchildren.

The dedication will follow Memorial Day Services by Post No. 139 which will be at 10 a.m. at the grave site of Clement R. Bontemps in St. Mary's Cemetery, Nacaise Avenue.

This will be followed by a service at the post's Memorial for those Veterans killed in World War I, World War II, the Korean Conflict, and the Vietnam Conflict.

John Wilkerson, post adjutant, will be in charge of the dedication services.

Aldermen question unit system effect on county assistance

BY DENA BISNETTE

Members of the Waveland Board of Aldermen are concerned that a proposed unit system for Hancock County could reduce or eliminate county assistance to cities.

All five aldermen and Mayor John Longo Jr. say they need more information on the system before deciding whether or not to support a June 3 referendum.

A major problem discussed by the board Wednesday concerning the unit system is a lack of clear information regarding whether implementation of the system will damage Waveland's ability to obtain county assistance.

The city's most recent use of a large amount of assistance was after Hurricanes Elena and Juan last year.

Ward Four Alderman Herman Yarborough, who also serves as city superintendent, said he feels getting such help might have been a problem after the hurricane had the county been on a unit system.

"What if that equipment we had needed had been up at Necaise Crossing or somewhere and we had had to wait for it to be moved? Or what if the administrator had just said no, this has to be done first?" Yarborough asked.

The board members agreed that being able to obtain the county's help is particularly important during emergencies.

They also agreed that the system is not fully understood.

"I have always felt that every time I needed some help for my constituents the supervisors were there. I know here in the city of Waveland we pay our share of the taxes and if we need help, they're there," Ward Three Alderman Louis Smolensky said.

"A person has to design a system so that he can do his best work," Mayor John Longo said.

"We just don't know enough. I have been hearing that if it passes, since Bay St. Louis has three supervisors, we wouldn't be able to get

Bay school board approves salary increases for '86-87

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Bay St. Louis Municipal School District trustees voted Wednesday in a special meeting to give all non-certified employees a five percent salary increase for the 1986-87 school year.

This pay increase is figured from the base salary in each department.

The salary increases recommended to the board by Superintendent J. D. McCullough did not include an increase in the local supplement to teachers' salaries.

McCullough noted all teachers would be receiving a $1,000 increase in their yearly salary as mandated by the legislature.

"At this time, this is all the increase I can recommend which will be fair to all employees of the district," McCullough said.

However, McCullough did request the right to recommend further increases should additional funds become available.

"If we see where we can raise the teachers' supplement, I would like all teachers to get another $200," he added.

Administrators' salaries, which are based on the teachers' salary scale and percentage of responsibility would also increase.

McCullough's recommendation for a $200 per month increase for Waveland Elementary Principal James Bladree due to additional duties as Early Childhood coordinator was also approved.

The approved salary increases will cost the school district an additional $50,000 in the next school year.

This figure reflects $20,000 as the five percent increase for non-certified employees and a $30,000 cost to the district due to $1,000 mandated salary increase.

Non-certified personnel includes bookkeeping, janitorial,

Waveland board requests exemption clarification

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Board of Aldermen has requested a clarification concerning a requested city and county tax exemption for G-Tek.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr. appeared before the board of supervisors early this month and had requested a county tax exemption for G-Tek, a firm which manufactures electronic components.

The firm's office is presently located in Waveland but Frankiewicz said a new building for G-Tek is planned in Bay St. Louis.

The supervisors took the request under advisement until Board Attorney Walter James Phillips researches the legality of the requested exemption.

The board generally grants exemptions to non-profit landowners, such as churches, or to new industries moving into the county.

Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. proposed Wednesday that the board of aldermen request the clarification because he feels granting such an exemption could "set a terrible precedent."

He said he is concerned about the amount of tax revenue that both the county and municipalities could forfeit if tax exemptions were made available to firms merely relocating within the county rather than moving into the county for the first time.

Sheriff's Department seeking information on armed robbery

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department is looking for information regarding a vehicle used in an armed robbery at Todd's Mini-Mart on Highway 603 Friday.

According to Investigator Glen Strong, the car is a green 1972 Plymouth Duster damaged on the left rear panel. The car may have a Louisiana tag.

The driver and two passengers who fled north on 603 after the robbery were Vietnamese, Strong said.

Anyone having information concerning the car or its occupants may contact the sheriff's department at 467-5101.

The three men reportedly arrived at the store shortly after midnight and two of them entered the building. One produced a dark gray, short-barrelled, large caliber revolver and ordered the clerk to give him the money from the cash register, Strong said.

The clerk was then ordered to lie on the floor.

A customer, unaware that a robbery was in progress, came into the store and was also robbed.

An undetermined amount of cash was taken.

No one was injured in the incident. Deputies at the scene included Joe Pica and Bill Pepperman.

The Holy Spirit Baptism and Gifts

What are the gifts of the Spirit? They are listed in I Corinthians 12:8-11. "For to one is given by the Spirit the Word of Wisdom, to another the Word of Knowledge by the same Spirit, to another Faith by the same Spirit, to another the Gifts of Healing by the same Spirit, to another the Working of Miracles, to another Divers Kinds of Tongues, to another the Interpretation of Tongues, but all these worketh that one and the selfsame Spirit, dividing to every man severally as He will."

All are miraculous manifestations in the beginning of the church. One purpose was to bear witness to what was spoken through the inspired men.

The Hebrew writer wrote the great salvation was first spoken by Christ and was confirmed unto us by them that heard Him, God also bearing them witness, both with signs and wonders and with divers miracles, and gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to His own will?" (Hebrews 2:3-4, Mark 16:20)

John concludes concerning the inspired revelation, "And many other SIGNS truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this book, but these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing ye might have life through his name." (John 20:30-31)

The nine gifts of the Spirit enabled them to know God's will before the New Testament came. The gifts of the Spirit were imparted by the apostles to those on whom they laid their hands. (Acts 8:17)

Others besides the apostles were enabled to receive the extraordinary wisdom, knowledge, faith, they could perform miracles, heal the sick, prophesy, discern spirits, speak in unknown tongues and interpret tongues.

Philip had performed miracles at Samaria. However, it was necessary for the apostles Peter and John to come from Jerusalem to Samaria to impart the spiritual gifts. It follows that when the apostles died, the power to impart spiritual gifts died with them. By this time, the two purposes of the miraculous had been served. The inspired message had been revealed and confirmed by the miracles.

The apostles had miraculous power. They were promised these in Mark 16:17-18, and they used these powers. They were given a great commission to "...preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark 16:15-16)

Men today cannot perform such miracles with the power of God. They cannot cast out devils, and they cannot speak in new languages miraculously. They cannot drink deadly poison without harm, and they cannot take up poisonous serpents and be bitten without hurt.

From newspaper accounts, Lloyd Hill of Fort Payne, Ala. tried it and the snake did harm him. The legislature of Alabama passed a law prohibiting such practice. Their rebuttal is "lack of faith." Lloyd Hill evidently had enough faith. He took up the deadly serpent.

Paul had that power. On the island of Melita, when Paul gathered a bundle of sticks, a viper fastened on his hand. He shook it off without harm. When his hand did not swell they said he is a god. (Acts 28:1-7)

Miraculous power was possessed by the apostles. Such powers were for a limited period of time. Paul in I Corinthians 13:8 refers back to the gifts mentioned in chapter 12. He said they would fall, cease and vanish away. While the apostles were inspired, they knew in part and prophesied in part.

"But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away." (I Corinthians 13:9-10)

The Interlinear Greek-English by Alfred Marshall, D. Litt. translates, when but comes the perfect thing, the thing in part will be abolished.

Paul is speaking about inspiration. The perfect inspiration is the Bible. James uses the mirror also to illustrate. He refers to the word of God as "The perfect law of liberty." (James 1:25)

Paul said, "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." (II Timothy 3:16-17)

Peter could say, "according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness..." (II Peter 1:3)

That which is perfect has come. The word has been confirmed by miracles. The miraculous has ceased.

National cemetery to fly Memorial Day "Avenue of Flags"

As the nation pauses on Memorial Day to commemorate those who gave their lives in its defense, much of the activity will focus on ceremonies at the 109 national cemeteries operated by the Veterans Administration.

At the Biloxi National Cemetery, Director Jimmy Jackson said an "Avenue of Flags" will decorate the grounds as a backdrop for ceremonies to be held Monday beginning at 9 a.m.

Jackson said the cemetery's Memorial Day activities will start with an invocation by VA Chaplain Holmes and will include the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, speech by H. D. Kirk, commander of DAV Chapter 17 in Ocean Springs, followed by placement of wreaths by various service organizations at the cemetery monument and concluded with a benediction.

He added that the 3,958 gravesites will be adorned with small American flags. Nearly all of the 1.7 million gravesites in the country's national cemeteries will receive flags.

The "Avenue of Flags" program has been added in recent years at many VA facilities as a way to honor the memory of those who served in the armed forces.

On roadways or walkways, standard burial flags are placed on staffs secured in metal holders spaced about 20 feet apart. The flags had been presented to families or friends of deceased veterans who then donated them to the VA.

The program depends on the personnel and resources of veterans service organizations and volunteers from other civic groups.

The history of the national cemetery system dates back to 1862 when the need arose to provide burial grounds in or near many Civil War battlefields. Later, cemeteries were opened to all honorably discharged veterans.

The first Memorial Day was observed 118 years ago.

Centralized employment office to open at NSTL

The National Space Technology Laboratories and the Mississippi State Employment Service have established a centralized Job Service Office to better assist citizens of the local communities in applying for work at NSTL.

The new Job Service Office will open June 2 to handle job applicants seeking positions with all state and federal agencies and industrial contractors.

At the present, each agency and company at NSTL has its own personnel office and job applicants must apply for positions at each one individually. An estimated 4,100 walk-in applicants are expected for this year.

The centralized job service will be more responsive to the inquiries from citizens of the local communities by helping them to understand how to gain employment at the installation.

The State Employment Service will staff the office with two professional counselors to assist job seekers. These professionals will be responsible for discussing types of jobs available at NSTL and for referring applicants to activities with job openings.

In addition, Office of Personnel Management federal job opportunity listings and local merit promotion announcements will also be posted regularly.

The office will maintain specialized recruiting literature and a supply file of applicants qualifying for special hiring provisions. Typing and shorthand tests will be administered as well.

The Job Service Office will be located on the first floor of Building 1100 and will be open for business from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

NSTL officials report the installation has a very stable work force of approximately 4,000 people and expects only a limited number of job openings will occur during the next year.

New Orleans man charged with cruelty to animals

BY DENA BISNETTE

A New Orleans, La., man has been charged with cruelty to animals in connection with the death of a horse in Hancock County last week.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, Barry R. Alfortish, 23, was arrested Thursday and released on $500 bond.

The charge is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $1,000 and a maximum of six months in prison.

A witness, Linda Harris of Picayune, signed an affidavit against Alfortish after allegedly seeing him mistreating the horse last Sunday.

She told Deputy Nathan Hoda that the horse had been "ridden to death."

Other residents of the area told authorities the animal had been ridden hard all day until it fell and that Alfortish had kicked and beat it in efforts to get it back on its feet.

The horse collapsed and died on Bienville Road off Highway 43 and had to be dragged off the road with a tractor.

Alfortish is a member of a New Orleans horseman's organization that brings horses into Hancock County on weekends.

Three arrested, one sought in VFW break-in

BY DENA BISNETTE

Three Hancock County men have been arrested in connection with a May 19 break-in at the Ansley Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

A fourth is still being sought, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay.

Those arrested Friday included Scott Duncan of 433 Thomas Street, Bay St. Louis; Charles Favre of 301 Railroad Street, Bay St. Louis; and Joe Lupo of Teresa Drive, Ansley.

All three were charged with burglary and larceny and released on $5,000 bond each.

Seay said the fourth suspect is believed to be the only other person involved in the burglary.

The items taken the night of May 19 included a token-operated slot machine and an undetermined amount of cash in bills and coins. The investigator said some of the merchandise has been recovered.

Action needed now on water district

We on the Mississippi Gulf Coast are blessed with what many people believe to be an unlimited supply of ground water.

In reality, we could wake up one day with 'water everywhere' but none to drink.

Our ground water along the Mississippi Gulf Coast has been dropping at a faster rate every year, according to the experts.

During the Regular Session of the 1985 Mississippi Legislature, House Bill No. 149 gives local bodies the authority to establish a local Water Management District.

Hancock and Harrison Counties have joined together to form a local Water Management District.

The Harrison County Board of Supervisors have already adopted a resolution declaring their intention to create The Gulf Coast Water Management District.

Hancock County Board of Supervisors have already advertised their intention of declaring the Public Necessity and Convenience of the Gulf Coast Water Management District and were to act on the matter on April 29, 1986.

Hancock's supervisors at that time took the matter under advisement, and then again under advisement on May 14, and are now scheduled to act again on May 28.

It is hoped the Hancock County Board of Supervisors will consider the serious nature of the matter in making their decision.

One can read of individuals, communities, and groups of communities having a serious problem because of a lack of drinking water.

Action should be taken before it is too late.

Quotables by Cuevas

The New Orleans Saints are coming to town on Wednesday, May 28, at a morning coffee co-sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Hancock County Exchange Club.

The event is scheduled to be held at Scafide's Wheel-Inn Restaurant at 7:30 a.m., US-90, Bay St. Louis.

Several speakers of the organization and members of the Saints will be on hand to discuss the upcoming football season.

Prizes will be given away, including hats, t-shirts, and a team jersey.

This sounds like an exciting gathering and we are in hopes there will be many folks at the co-sponsored meeting.

Coffee will be free and breakfast will be available "dutch treat".

The public is invited.

It will be Fleet Blessing time at the Pass-Christian Harbor this afternoon at 2 p.m.

The event is sponsored by the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce, and trophies will be awarded to the top decorated boats in several categories.

King Fisherman and Queen of the Fleet for 1986 will also be announced.

Free seafood will be distributed, and dancing will follow to the music of the Shades.

This sounds like an exciting afternoon.

Don't forget Memorial Day Services are scheduled tomorrow in both Bay St. Louis and Waveland. It will be a time to honor members of our armed forces who have died in the service of our country throughout this nation's history.

The Bay St. Louis American Legion will begin services at the grave site of Clement R. Bontemps in St. Mary's Cemetery, Nacaise Avenue at 10 a.m. Post Chaplain Joseph Benvenuti will present the address.

This will be followed by a Memorial service at the post's monument in honor of World War I, World War II, the Korean Conflict, and Vietnam Conflict veterans.

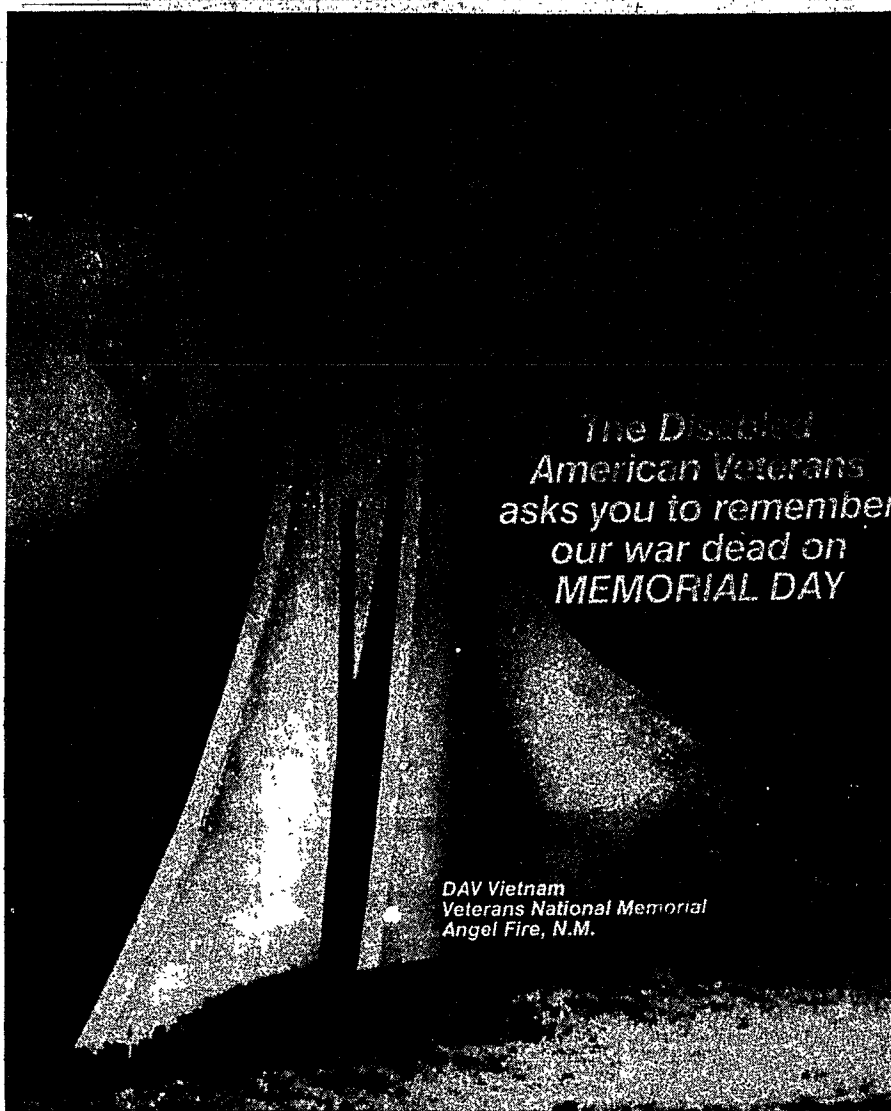

A special dedication of Boy Scout Troop 208's scout house in honor of the late Warren "Buck" Buehler will follow. Post Adjutant John Wilkerson will be master of ceremonies.

Services will begin at 10:50 a.m. in Waveland by the Bay High Band at the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post No. 77.

A memorial address will be given by Don Decker, and then a wreath will be placed at the memorial in front of the post's home.

Jay Marsh will be the master of ceremonies at the Waveland Legion's services.

ORAL CANCER

Q. An area in my mouth has been irritated for over a month. Could this be a sign of oral cancer? What causes oral cancer?

A. Small white or red patches, or lesions in the mouth, are the result of many causes, but they're not necessarily a sign of oral cancer.

These irritations could be the result of an injury, canker sores, or a reaction to a foreign substance. For instance, placing an aspirin in a painful area of the mouth can cause an irritative red or white patch to form.

A discolored area in the mouth which lasts for more than two weeks requires further investigation. First, a dentist should be consulted. He or she will ask about any traumatic injuries you may have received, oral hygiene practices and habits, and eating habits. An oral examination also may be performed to determine the cause of the discoloration.

If your dentist suspects the change in your mouth could be oral cancer, a tissue biopsy will be necessary. During the biopsy a small portion of the inflamed area and the surrounding tissue will be removed for microscopic examination. Pathologists look for certain cell changes to determine whether the suspicious lesion is malignant or benign.

Squamous cell carcinoma is the major type of cancer found in the mouth. Some 25,000 new cases and 9,000 deaths each year are the result of this cancer.

No single factor can be pinpointed as the cause of oral cancer. Smoking more than one pack of cigarettes a day, drinking more than two drinks daily, and poor nutritional habits have been considered "risk factors" for oral cancer, although they've not actually been shown to cause the disease. Nearly one-fourth of the oral cancer patients abstain totally from both habits. The peak age group for oral cancer patients is late adulthood, but even children may develop the disease.

Smokeless tobacco, or snuff, recently has been mentioned as a possible cause of oral cancer, though no extensive studies to date have been published. People who use snuff frequently and over long periods of time may develop a callus or thickening of the lining of the mouth in the area where the snuff usually is placed. The callus or thickening is the mouth's reaction to a continual, mild irritation. In addition, rough dental fillings, extruded teeth and mouthwash all have been reported to cause changes in the mouth's lining.

Poor oral hygiene habits have not been associated directly with a greater risk of developing oral cancer. However, at least some of the factors that cause oral cancer are considered likely to be environmental. This theory is supported by the majority of oral cancers which arise where saliva collects - for instance, under the tongue.

Good oral hygiene is important for other reasons, as well. Through proper brushing and flossing techniques and the home use of preventive fluoride preparations now available commercially, the mouth may remain relatively free of dental and periodontal disease.

Early detection is the best way to ensure a good prognosis in cases of oral cancer. See a dentist or physician immediately if any red or white area in your mouth refuses to heal.

This "Matter of Health" was prepared in cooperation with the oral pathologists on staff at University Hospital at the University of Mississippi Medical Center - Mississippi's only health sciences campus. Readers may suggest future topics by writing to "Matters of Health", the University of Mississippi Medical Center, 2500 North State Street, Jackson, Mississippi 39216-4505.

Dear Sir,

Memorial Day 1986

The last Monday in May. It is that day each year that rekindles memories of a glorious but costly history. It is that day, more than any other, that wakes us to the realization that freedom demands might and sacrifice. It is that day that serves to renew the dreams and the spirit of brotherhood that brought this nation through more than two centuries of struggle and kept it alive and vibrant and free.

Memorial Day is a special time for Americans to collectively remember the more than one million who have kept open the doors of freedom and opportunity with their very lives.

The images that arise on Memorial Day are vivid, especially for the families who have lost loved ones in military service. The letter from a son that read: "Dear Mom and Dad, Don't worry about me. I'll be alright." Or the other letter: "We regret to inform you..." Or perhaps the letter that never came and the wondering that remains. The image of military officers coming up the walk, dreading what they had to say. Photographs on the mantle. A gold star in the window. The notes of a trumpet drifting over scores of servicemen and women still in formation, still heroes, still serving.

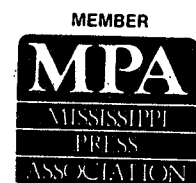

Deaths in Service

—American Revolution, 4,000
—War of 1812, 2,000
—Mexican War, 13,000
—Civil War 134,000 (Confederate, approximate) 384,000 (Union)
—Spanish-American War, 11,000
—World War I, 116,000
—World War II, 406,000
—Korean Conflict, 55,000
—Vietnam, over 58,000 in southeast Asia.

Since the end of the Vietnam era, many American military personnel have died in service-related accidents, terrorist attacks, and battle, including 261 who were killed in Beirut and 19 who died in Grenada. As a nation, we have daily reminders of these numbers and the deeds and sacrifices of those who comprise them. Freedom. Prosperity. Good fortune. Hope. These are our photographs on the mantle—displayed, protected and shared proudly.

On May 26, I urge all Americans to join with me in honoring those who have fallen in military service. The most appropriate way to commemorate them and their deeds is also the simplest. Remember.

ILLEGAL DUMPING—This illegal dumping is taking place on a road off Lakeshore Road near Bayou Cadet. Citizens have to take a stand on dumping such as this, as it occurs throughout our county. It is a disgrace to our county to have such things happening and all it would take is enough citizens with pride to cause a change in the thinking of everyone. A few good stiff fines would also help eliminate illegal dumping. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

New law requires names, numbers on all streets, roads

Paramedics, fire fighters, and law enforcement personnel will soon be able to do an even better job of saving lives and property thanks to a new state law.

The law, which becomes effective July 1 requires that all unidentified roads, streets and highways be named and/or numbered.

ed and/or numbered.

"In an emergency, having a good address can mean the difference between life and death," said Malone Bryant of Collins, president of the Mississippi Fire Chiefs Association.

"Getting this law passed was so important in Mississippi because we have such a large rural population," he added.

The Mississippi Fire Chiefs Association and the Emergency Medical Services Division of the State Department of Health have endorsed the new law along with other emergency services groups.

Bryant and Wade Spruill, with the Emergency Medical Services Division in Jackson, said their organizations will be working with city officials and county boards of supervisors throughout the state to help implement the street naming and numbering process.

The new law does not require cities and counties to buy street signs. However, cities and counties may accept donations in the form of money, materials, labor or other assistance to mark roads, streets or highways.

Cities and counties will be able to adopt their own naming and numbering plans until July 1, 1987. After that date, a naming and numbering plan developed by the State Highway Department would become the official plan.

"The State Highway Department has developed an excellent naming and numbering plan based on mileage, and I hope that most areas will choose to go ahead with this plan," Bryant said.

Pass library slates forgiveness month

The Pass Christian Public Library will go on line with an automated circulation system sometime in late August or early September.

Once on line, the computer never forgets or overlooks an overdue book or an unpaid fine.

Therefore, the library is offering a forgiveness period from May 19 through June 14.

Any patron returning overdue materials regardless of how long overdue, will not be charged a fine.

This does not include lost books for which the patron must pay if he/she wishes to use the library; nor does this apply to fines incurred before May 19.

"Over the last three years your library has lost $6,000 per year in books that have not been returned," said Kay Covode, Head Librarian.

"Help us to lower this figure by bringing back those books you've had for a while. No questions asked."

Story Hour titles listed

Story programs for pre-school children are presented Thursdays at 10:30 a.m. at City-County Library on US 90 and Fridays at 10:30 a.m. at Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue. Story hours will not be given during the months of June and July because of Summer Reading.

City-County's program this week includes "The Blanket That Had to Go" by Nancy Evans Cooney; "Up Day, Down Day" by Jacque Ham; "There Was Nobody There" by Barbara Botner; "I went to School" and "Slip One, Slip Two," both physical activities; and the film, "Timothy Goes to School."

Waveland Library's program includes: "In the Forest" by Marie Hall Ets; "Talk Along-Help Jumbo Escape" by Dick Tunnett and "The Elephant," a physical activity. A farewell party will conclude the program. Becky Mitchum Keefer presents the City-County program. Helen Almond presents the Waveland program.

PLOWHORSES AND PHILOSOPHY

There was something about the look in Nellie's eye as she bobbed her head and chomped at the bit that should have tipped off a bystander to the white mare's temperament that sunny spring morning on a central Mississippi rural hillside.

But, her countenance notwithstanding, when she went romping across the deep bermuda grass sod with 70-year-old Garrett Steward hanging onto his flying turning plow which was indeed turning this way and that cutting more air than dirt, there was no doubt that Nellie still had a ways to go before she complied with the expected norm for plowhorses.

Finally Garrett whooped his raging team to a halt and stood his ground with his chest heaving mightily.

If the thought entered Garrett's capped and slightly grizzled head that this was no time for a farm reporter to come striding up beside him and Nellie and Old Bill for a few philosophic words about spring plowing, he never let on. He just kept on breathing hard and finally leaned against the plow and grinned as he exclaimed, "I gotta blow a little—so they will too!"

You see, at age 70 Madison County farmer Garrett Steward should be retired by most anybody's standards, but here he was racing around a new intended hilltop garden on Robinson Springs Road just as intent on breaking in the white mustang mare he had paid $150 for as he was in breaking up that garden plot.

This writer had stopped to chat with Garrett when he saw him working the spirited team in the new ground. Under a warm sun with birds singing all around and all nature bursting forth with the season about us, philosophy just popped out as naturally.

"Trouble is with Nellie," Garrett said as he gasped for more air, "she's been eating too much and working too little. Just look at her. It's the same way with folks. When we eat too much we don't want to work either!" We both grinned. I said, "That's right."

But Garrett was dead serious. He pointed down the road toward his house where he will cultivate five acres of cotton and six acres of corn this crop year with Nellie and Bill providing the horsepower for breaking the soil in the spring, rowing up, harrowing, applying fertilizer, putting in the seed, barring off and plowing out, and cultivating until the stalks get too tall and the crop is layed by.

"Nellie's still a mustang though," Garrett added, "and I teamed her with Old Bill so he'll hold her back and show her how to do."

I expected more philosophy and dug my foot into a newly turned soddy furrow to prepare for it. Garrett just grinned. He didn't elaborate anymore. But I asked the question anyway.

"I guess you're married aren't you, Garrett?"

"No, sir, not anymore. I lost my wife." For the first time he wasn't smiling. His countenance deepened. "But we do have 13 children."

"Do any of them still live at home with you these days?"

"No, they have all moved on..." The good natured farmer began to add a few more of life's lessons about people. But, you know, it just wouldn't be fair to tell the whole world all about a man's candid honesty and wisdom, would it?

Garrett and I talked more about the pleasures of honest toil and earning a living from the good earth. We even got off on taxes a little. He asked a question or two about his personal tax liability at his age and station in life.

The smile was back on his face, but there was a seriousness in his voice. He wanted assurance that he didn't owe anybody anything. Or, if he did he wanted to know so he could go into town and get anything in order that wasn't already.

"I don't make people have to come and get me," he said, and he started back around the garden following the overly zealous young mare. He was breathing easier now, but I don't know for how long. I had to be on my way and he on his, for he was expecting to have the white mare fully broken sometime next year.

Such a move could also open the door for numerous tax exemption requests from organizations reorganizing their corporate structure, Longo said.

"We need to have some kind of uniform code established, and it should be observed by both cities and the county," he said.

He proposed a joint board meeting with the supervisors and members of the Bay St. Louis city council to discuss the matter, but no action was taken by the aldermen in the absence of Board Attorney Lucien Gex.

The matter is expected to be discussed again at a later board meeting when Gex is present, Longo said.

In other business Wednesday, the board:

—Discussed the possibility of budgeting funds for the city's 1988 centennial celebration with Centennial Committee Chairman William Bradford;

—Heard a proposal from Jerry Mitchell of Bureau of Marine Resources regarding federal funds available for waterfront improvement and agreed to submit a funding application;

—Presented service awards to John Perkins, Dr. William Bradford and Reggie Fayard Jr.;

—Heard a request from Dorothy Sutton and Dix Ashman for making St. Joseph Street one-way from Bourgeois Street to Beach Boulevard and took it under advisement;

—Proclaimed June Adopt a Cat Month; and —Discussed but took no action on purchase of a computer system for city hall.

The board meets again June 4 at 7:30 p.m.

maintenance and cafeteria employees, teacher aides, bus drivers and secretaries.

Also at the meeting, the board heard from George Hopkins of the Hopkins Company, architects for an eight-classroom project for a kindergarten building.

Hopkins presented two detailed reports on a May 17 meeting of a special committee to discuss design of the kindergarten building.

He told the board if they agreed with decisions of the committee, he would be able to present preliminary estimates in a few days.

However, Hopkins did tell the board he did not believe bids would be lower than early bids rejected because of high prices.

In other business the board:

—Rejected all bids for copiers taken under advisement at the last meeting. Business manager Garland Cuevas said only one of four bids met the specifications and that one was the highest bid. The board authorized Cuevas to re-advertise for bids.

—Approved a request by North Bay Elementary Principal Roger James to have a fence installed around the playground at the elementary school. James told the board the Parents Teachers Organization had gotten quotes on the project which included the construction of a five-foot hurricane-type fence for a cost of $2,500 to $3,000.

—Agreed to offer a summer school program if possible.

—Approved a 1986-87 school year calendar as follows:

"I really believe when we get the county unit system we need to redistrict. We always have at least one supervisor, but if there is any truth to the rumors, we could lose our supervisor through a vote-down."

Board members Barbara Rappold and Bob Hubbard also stated they feel this particular issue needs to be cleared up before the June 3 unit system referendum.

Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perdicara, whose beat once included part of Waveland and still includes much of Bay St. Louis, said Friday that he would prefer to remain under the beat system.

"The way it is now, we can help without question," he said.

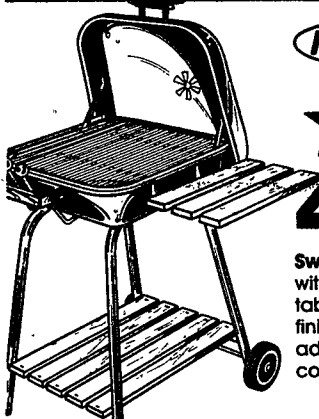

"If something came up, we would have to support Bay St. Louis but we wouldn't neglect Waveland."

Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge, who worked with Waveland after the hurricanes last year, said he sees no problem with the present system.

"For the past 11 years, I have had a good working relationship with Waveland. Under the unit system I don't know if I could continue that, and I understand their concern," Courge said.

Board of Supervisors President A.A. Keller, whose Beat Two also contains part of Waveland, stressed that the board would no longer be able to determine the priority of requests for assistance under the unit system.

"Waveland would have to compete with Bay St. Louis," Keller said. "You know what would happen. The administrator would have to go with the majority if he wanted to keep his job."

Bay St. Louis DAVA 50

By Dr. Esther Oschmann, State Patriotic Instructor
Disabled American Veterans Aux. No. 50

Each year by Presidential proclamation, June 14 is declared a holiday. But in all the states and for more than 200 million Americans, I think it should be a day to remember...and give thanks to God for one of the most precious possessions we have: the American Flag!

Out of the travail of our nation's birth, in the midst of a bitter war for independence, there emerged on June 14, 1777 our national emblem, a beautiful flag combining the blue of vigilance, perseverance and justice with the white of purity and the red of hardness and valor in a symbol of freedom that has lifted the hearts of Americans through the years.

It has been said that our stars and stripes is a "living" flag. It breathes vitality as it ripples in the breeze. It has exemplified vigor and endurance in proclaiming man's freedom and his right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness through almost two centuries.

It grows as our nation grows, adding a star for each new state taken into our union.

Yes, June 14 is Flag Day, but the blessed freedoms that our flag symbolizes for each of us go on 365 days a year.

We should continue to show our appreciation and awareness of how much human sacrifice has gone into winning those freedoms and holding them secure for us through the years since these United States became a nation.

I suppose that I, like many members of the auxiliary, am especially conscious of this sacrifice. Each of us is related to a man who has served in the Armed Forces of the United States. Whether we be mother, wife, sister or daughter of such a man, we all know the intense patriotic devotion with which our men fought for their flag and their country and with which they and we will always serve.

Largely because of the way we feel in our auxiliary, we have many activities that are built around the flag itself. One of these is the presentation of flags to our local schools and to various groups, such as scouts, campfire girls and others. Usually we arrange a short program at the time of presentation. It gives us a chance to tell our boys and girls something of the history of our flag—to remind them of what it stands for.

We also explain certain rules for treating the flag with the proper respect. It is always so thrilling to watch the young faces while they listen. It is almost as though—whatever the age—they assume a new role as citizens at this very moment. Now the flag is theirs—and somehow you get the feeling that each of them is saying to himself, "What happens to it now is up to me."

You can hear it in the way they say the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag—just words to them before—now, the words take on a brand-new meaning.

Youngsters like these are the future men and women who will be running our nation tomorrow, and nothing on earth can harm this flag or destroy what it stands for.

There is almost no activity in which the flag doesn't play a key role.

Examples are parades, community activities, conventions, ball games, all meetings of our local auxiliaries. But nowhere is it more appropriately carried than in our memorial services honoring those who gave their lives that this flag, this democracy might live. These are deeply moving, solemn occasions—but there is no morbidity, the flag itself makes it that way. For flying the breeze with its bold red, white and blue, it is triumphant proof that these men did not die in vain. This is the greatest tribute we could bring these men.

The flag of the United States of America, referred to as the national flag, is also known as the national ensign, national color and national standard. The term "National Flag" is applicable regardless of size or manner of display. But the other terms have certain well-defined usages of long standing within the Armed Services.

"National ensign" is used by the Navy in a general manner, although is actually indicates the national flag flown by airships, ships and boats.

"National color" pertains to flags carried by dismounted units of the landing force.

"National standard" is carried by mounted, mechanized and motorized units.

The members of the DAV auxiliary and members of all other patriotic organizations are leaders and have the opportunity to set a good example for others in our community. We must rekindle the spirit of patriotism and as parents and concerned citizens, must reflect on how we can best prepare today's youth for tomorrow's leadership. If you have a flag, please display it on June 14, Flag Day.

Clermont Harbor Handcrafters

Members of the Clermont Handcrafters met May 1 at Gulf National Bank. An in-club sale of handmade items was held. Fourteen members brought their crafts, varied and beautiful.

Club members were encouraged to participate in this sale and most were happy to show their handwork.

Marilyn Dupont reported a group of members were to visit the Dixie White House Nursing Home. Visiting the home and bringing little 'goodies' for the patients has been a club project for some time. She raffled a lovely donated handbag with proceeds to be used for the home.

Members were notified the annual picnic would be held June 19 due to the hostesses being on vacation.

Hostesses Dorothy Neubig, Mary Caillier and Beverley Praetorius served cake and drinks to all.

A stuffed Christmas tree was won by Eva Shea, the door prize supplied by the hostesses.

Meetings have been cancelled for the summer months and will begin again in September.

MR. AND MRS. CLAYTON ARNOLD SPIERS SR.

Ada Adell (Dale) Woodard of Nashville, Tenn. and Clayton Arnold Spiers Sr. of Cumberland City, Tenn. exchanged wedding vows April 19 at 5 p.m. in the Waveland Civic Center. Joseph Dobson performed the double ring candlelight ceremony.

Given in marriage by her son-in-law, Clarence Manuel Jr., the bride wore a formal gown of white chiffon with fitted bodice adorned with venise lace appliques, capelet collar which draped at the back to below the waist. The full circular skirt was bordered with venise lace. She wore a wreath of white silk flowers with ribbon streamers and carried a nosegay of white silk roses with pink sweetheart rosebuds, stephanotis, baby's breath and ribbon.

Wanda Manuel of Gulfport, daughter of the bride, was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Christy Albert, granddaughter of the bride, and Dawn Perkins of Waveland. Sabrina Manuel of Gulfport, granddaughter of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Courtney Bourgeois of Waveland was flower girl.

Attendants were attired in pastel gowns in rainbow colors. They carried matching long stemmed roses with baby's breath.

Charles Bourgeois of Waveland, son-in-law of the bride, was best man.

Groomsmen were Jo-Mike Humphrey of Waveland, and Brian Manuel of Gulfport, grandsons of the bride. Ryan Bourgeois of Waveland, grandson of the bride, was junior groomsman.

Ringbearers were grandsons Randy Humphrey and Charles Bourgeois, both of Waveland.

A reception followed the ceremony at the civic center, which was decorated in pastel rainbow colors.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and held a three-tiered wedding cake.

Assisting at the reception were Diane Perkins, Kay Bourgeois and Sue Bourgeois, all of Waveland.

NSTL names CAC chairman

Jerry Hlass, director of the National Space Technology Laboratories, has named Mark Payne as drive chairman for the installation's annual Combined Agencies Campaign.

Payne is the manager of NASA's Installation Operations Office. Hlass is serving as overall chairman for this year's campaign.

Also selected to support the campaign was Bob Gorham, Pan Am project director, who will serve as chairman for the Industrial Division.

The 1987 campaign is scheduled to begin in September and, according to Payne, a monetary goal should be established within a few weeks.

Home Economist Council

Hancock County Homemakers Week Creative Arts Show at Bay St. Louis Library displayed the works of participants in five classes.

Blue and red ribbons were awarded by three judges from Harrison County.

The five classes included 24 sections. Entries were shown in each category with a first place from each class chosen to go to State Competition May 27 through 29 in Starkville.

First Place in Class A: Painting and Drawing, went to Learning Ladies Club member Clarisse Hively. She entered an oil painting of slave quarters in back of San Francisco Plantation, off River Road Reserve in Louisiana.

Hively chose words from scripture naming her painting "Old Ways Give Way To The New." She took photos then painted it in about nine hours.

Class B: Sculpture entry winner was "Miss Bess" an apple doll by Alice Hondzinski, Learning Ladies Club. Apple faces and hands were carved and dried. Character is the "chrisma delight" intended. Construction: from frame, clothing, hair, leather shoes are hand worked, each doll a delicate creation.

Class C: Ceramics and Pottery, Porcelain Section was won by Pat Stanovich, a member of the newly established Lakeshore Club. The porcelain, whole body long faced Ju-mn (French) doll, has glass eyes, is ball jointed for any display positioning. She stands 27 inches. Her clothing depicts the 1800s, with imported batist heirloom dress, edged in 100 percent cotton lace completing an ensemble with bonnet.

This doll including all porcelain was made by Pat. Their entire club is leaning this delicate art taught by Mrs. Stanovich.

Mary Blackstock, from Crafty Club, won Class D: Stitchery with her framed counted cross stitch entry. Mary chose a poem "Love is Patient" she script stitched, bordered with rose and green cross stitches on a pink background. Many will use this 14" x 18" picture in her home. The stitching took two full weeks to complete.

A macrame wall hanging by Learning Ladies Vice President Barbara Pursley was chosen Class E: Creative Crafts winner. Barbara's pattern contained blocks of over 14 different knots to complete a 4 1/2 x 30 inch hanging. Congratulations to each entrant and best wishes at State Homemakers Council to all class winners!

Numerous blue and red ribbons were given to Hancock County Homemakers representing local clubs. Many of these crafts have been taught and/or shared with members, guests and the public.

Anyone interested in being a part of these groups or starting new clubs may contact our County Home Economist Darlene Underwood at the County Extension office behind the Hancock Hospital.

Experts agree: Certified Angus Beef is the tenderest, best tasting beef in America. And now, by special arrangement with the American Angus Association this top quality beef is available to you at National Super Markets.

ONLY ONE IN FOUR IS GOOD ENOUGH
The Certified Angus Beef stamp of approval carries such high quality standards that only one in four, just 25% of all the Angus cattle tested, are accepted. By contrast, the USDA Choice rating is given to 90% of all beef graded. Even beef advertised as "Black Angus" offers no assurance that it could pass Certified Angus Beef inspections.

THE DIFFERENCE IS IN THE MARBLING
The difference between an average steak and a tender, juicy Certified Angus steak is the marbling — the small flecks of white throughout the beef. The marbling in Certified Angus Beef insures a better tasting cut of meat every time.

EVEN OUR TRIMMING IS SPECIAL
To make sure you get the very best value our meat department trims each cut of Certified Angus Beef to a maximum of 1/4 inch of fat. This not only saves you money but helps make Certified Angus Beef lower in cholesterol than skinnier chicken.

LOOK FOR THE SHIELD
So, if you're looking for the best tasting beef in America, just look for the special Certified Angus Beef section in our fresh meat case. The Certified Angus Beef shield guarantees that you'll be serving beef that's better than USDA Choice, better than "Black Angus" and even more highly selected than USDA Prime.
